Report Opposition to Dawes
In Both Hoover and Allied Camps

By William K. Hutchinson
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—A tentative decision by Herbert Hoover's high command to name a "dry from west of the Alleghenies" as his running mate and a sudden boom for Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, were the outstanding developments today in the race for the Republican vice-presidential nomination.

The limitation, revealed to International News Service by a member of the "high command," virtually narrowed the field to Vice-President Charles G. Dawes, Senator Charles S. Deneen of Illinois and Fess. Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, however, would have been the most formidable candidate for the honor had he not indicated a refusal to become Hoover's running mate.

Reports of opposition to Dawes in both the Hoover and allied camps meanwhile seemed to reduce the field even further—to one containing the names of Deneen and Fess. A final decision though will be left to Hoover himself and he may select a candidate from some other part of the West.

This ultimatum appeared to have punctured the boom for Senator Walter F. Edge of New Jersey, leader of the Senatorial "West." Edge had the unanimous endorsement of his own state and the support of Senator-elect William S. Vare, of Pennsylvania, now known as the "man who nominated Hoover." The farm revolt destroyed Edge's chances, it was said, because the Hoover leaders desired a man who could help the ticket in the dry West.

The Edge candidacy may develop a row in the Convention, should Vare swing him the Pennsylvania delegation. If the New Jersey Senator also carried New York, together with scattered states in the South, he might overturn the Hoover band wagon. The Hoover leaders, however, laughed at the possibility of such an upset.

The Dawes boom died slowly. He had scattered support in the East and South. His Western friends seemed to have deserted him because of his failure to help in the battle to put a McNary-Haugen plank in the platform. The allies generally dropped him because of his silence during their fight on Hoover. The Hoover leaders were lukewarm because of his known coolness toward President Coolidge. Yet, despite all this opposition, the delegates themselves continued to boom Dawes for renomination.

It was alarm over the agricultural situation, according to the Hoover marshal, that brought about the decision for a "dry from west of the Alleghenies." It also brought Fess into the picture. It was pointed out that Fess was acceptable to President Coolidge, having been known as the "administration spokesman" in the Senate for the last two years. The Hoover leaders believed too that he would help the ticket in Ohio, a doubtful state, which may furnish the Democratic candidate for vice-president, and a state in which Hoover was under vicious attack from the late Senator Frank B. Willis during the primary campaign.

There was much talk about Deneen among Hoover leaders. It was said he would help Hoover in the West by his stand for the McNary-Haugen bill, his great record of law enforcement and the prominence he won by defeating the Thompson-Crowe organization in the recent Chicago elections. His election, it also was felt, would enable Hoover to carry Illinois, another "doubtful state," and would tend to placate the allies.

REPUBLICAN CONVENTION NOTES

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—With the Presidential fight apparently decided, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today cast about for means of placating the irate farmers who have stormed about the convention city for the last three days. Receiving humble farmers, bronzed with toil in the sun and clad in humble raiment, the "third richest man in the world" talked to them with all the deference accorded ambassadors of rank.

The farm relief fight, on which the allies have based their hope to stop Hoover, was transferred from the

GROUP ENJOYS TRIP TO NEW YORK IN BUS

Presbyterian Choir Members
Go Sight-Seeing In Metropolis

SEE PLACES OF INTEREST

The members of the Presbyterian Church choir and their friends enjoyed a sightseeing trip to New York City yesterday via motor bus.

The party left Bristol at 6.30 a. m. and entered New York via the New Holland tunnel, proceeding to the New York Stock Exchange, Clearing House, Trinity Church and graveyard, where a short stop was made. The party visited the New York docks, where they viewed the Leviathan.

A journey was then made to Battery Park, where they saw the Statue of Liberty. A drive up Broadway to 50th street and over to Roxy's Theatre, was next. At the theatre reservations had been made for the party to witness the afternoon performance. The group enjoyed a drive up Fifth avenue as far as Riverside Drive, thence to Grant's Tomb, where a fifteen minute visit was made, and from there to Morningside avenue, to the Church of St. John the Divine. Coming down Fifth avenue to Washington Arch, they went to the "Pepper Pot," located at 146 West 4th street, for their dinner. Reservations had been made for the party for dinner.

At 7.45 the group visited the Bowery, Chinatown and the rescue mission, where a short stop was made. The sightseeing tour would not have been complete without seeing Broadway and the bright lights by night and after seeing this, the party started the homeward journey.

Those who enjoyed the trip were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Marburg Weagley, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eberhardt, Mrs. Ada Sands, Mrs. Jacob Smith, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. William Lefferts, Mrs. V. V. Vansant, Mrs. G. W. Miller, Mrs. Ida McElmoyl, Mrs. Joseph Buck, Miss Dorothy Rosseau, Miss Helen Comfort, Miss Pearl Moss, Miss Marion Smith, Mrs. Elizabeth Tolen, Miss Florence Rothenberger, Miss Hatty Carty, Miss Katharine Wegar, Norman Hetherington, John Johnson, Russell Johnson, Thomas Snelson, Frank Weik.

S. LANGHORNE ASS'N AWARDS SLOGAN PRIZE

"South Langhorne Has It"

HELP FOR FIREMEN

SOUTH LANGHORNE, June 14.—The June meeting of the South Langhorne Business Men's Association was held in the public school house.

While the audience was not large the matters considered and the progress made in several propositions for civic improvement and community welfare made up for the lack of numbers.

George W. Brelsford was awarded the prize offered by the society for submitting the best slogan for South Langhorne. Mr. Brelsford's offering was "South Langhorne Has It." The prize is an order for $5 worth of merchandise at some South Langhorne store.

Through the efforts of the association, it has been arranged with the Langhorne Water Company to have 6-inch mains to all fire plugs in the borough, which will greatly increase the town's protection against fire.

The South Langhorne Fire Company asked the association's co-operation in having the borough take care of securing funds for fire company equipment and maintenance by levying a fire tax of three mills. While this will increase the tax rate of the borough, it will tend to equalize the support of fire protection among citizens and property owners instead of depending upon individual contributions, as at present. The association sanctioned the suggestion.

The matter of improving Woodland avenue is causing some perplexity. While residents and property-owners on that thoroughfare are desirous of having repairs made to it, it happens that one side of the street is in the borough and the other in Middletown township. The only solution seems to be to have the borough annex some of the township property so both sides of the street might be in the borough limits.

With the coming of summer, the need of traffic officers at the corners of Bellevue avenue and the Lincoln Highway is becoming increasingly more apparent, especially on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, when the steady streams of vehicles on the highway make it practically impossible to cross it for long periods. Albert Wunsch, an active member of the business men's association, brought this matter to the attention of the Keystone Automobile Club, and the latter responded that, upon receipt of an application from South Langhorne Borough Council, the club will gladly send some of its traffic men up to guard the crossing at such times.

Tendered Shower At Home of A Friend

Orr, Mrs. Henry Henrich, Mrs. William Sharkey, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Harold Turley, Mrs. Charles Peet, Mrs. William Lefferts and Miss Nancy Eunice, of Bristol, and the Misses Catharine and Elizabeth Hellwig, of Philadelphia. Favors were given Mrs. Pearson, the guest of honor, and Miss Catharine Hellwig.

Advertising Plane Given Its
First Test Flight
Here

THE FIRST OF ITS KIND

Will Flash Message in Electric
Lights Over Broadway,
New York

One of the largest airplanes ever built at the plant of the Keystone Aircraft, Inc., here, was given a trial flight yesterday and proved to be entirely satisfactory.

Contrary to the general style of plane built here this one is not a bomber and instead of dropping high powered explosives from the air, it will bombard the populace with various forms of advertisements. The plane was built purely for advertising purposes and is one of the first of its kind to be put into service.

The test was witnessed by Roland Rohls, vice-president, Aerial Advertising, Inc., Fifth avenue, New York. He was very much interested in the test and appeared to be entirely satisfied with the performance of the plane.

The plane has been named the "Night Hawk," and its use will inaugurate a new scheme of advertising. The plane will be flown over New York City at night and will flash to the populace various advertisements in vari-colored electric lights.

A series of light sockets are installed in the lower wings of the plane. These wings measure about 90 feet across. Colored lights will be placed in the light sockets in the wings and will carry their illuminated message to the thousands on the streets below.

Three motors will propel the plane. The center motor is a heavy 420 h. p. Pratt-Whitney Vasp while the other two, one of which is on either side, are of the Wright Whirlwind type, 220 h. p. each.

HIGH SCHOOL COACH TO ATTEND BUCKNELL

By T. M. Juno

Coach Kenneth L. Townsend of the local school will get a jump on the majority of football coaches next fall by attending Bucknell Summer Football Coaching School, at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., this summer.

He has recently sent his application for enrollment for twelve full days of intensive study at top-notch speed—from July 2nd to July 14th.

Coach Townsend will study under Glenn S. "Pop" Warner, renowned coach at Leland Stanford University, California, and R. C. "Bob" Zuppke, famous Big Ten coach of the University of Illinois.

"Pop" Warner, as he is affectionately known to thousands of sports addicts all over the country, won his spurs at Carlisle, Cornell, the University of Pittsburgh and is now carrying on his great work on the Western Coast.

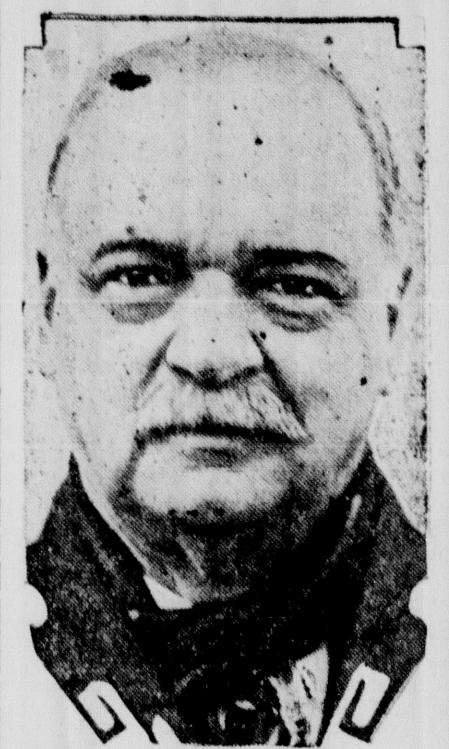

"Bob" Zuppke, who helped make "Red" Grange famous, brought the Big Ten championship to Illinois in 1927 and is responsible for past "Illini" eleven's having won the same coveted honor five times.

When Coach Townsend returns next fall, he promises to have plenty of new plays and signals. The Cardinal and Gray eleven will open its season on September 21, when they meet Newtown High School.

Doris and John Wright Never Late or Absent At

BOTH GIVEN MEDALS

TULLYTOWN, June 14.—A fine attendance record has been made by two scholars at the public school here for the past six years. Within this period, a brother and sister have not missed a session or been late once.

Doris and John Wright, children of Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, of Main street, hold this proud record.

Doris has just completed her grammar school work and will enter the Bristol High School in the Fall. At the commencement exercises held last week for the Tullytown school, Doris was presented the American Legion Medal for Girls, by the Robert Brackner Post, No. 382, of the American Legion. This medal is given to the girl of the graduating class who best typifies "Courage, honor, service, Companionship and scholarship."

John also possesses the coveted Legion Medal. Three years ago, when he was graduated from the Tullytown schools, he was awarded the medal for the outstanding boy. This was the first medal to be awarded in the Tullytown schools and among the first of the American Legion stands for "Courage, character, service, leadership, and scholarship." John is now completing his third year at the Bristol High School.

TREPASSEY, N. F., June 14.—(INS)—Convinced by nine unsuccessful attempts to take off that the heavy, pontooned, tri-motored monoplane "Friendship" cannot rise with a load of fuel sufficient to take it directly to England, Miss Amelia Earhart, Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon decided early today to hop off to the Azores today, carrying only 700 gallons of fuel.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 14.—(INS)—Refuelling of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia, in which Miss Mabel Boll and her flying companions, Captains Oliver Le Boutillier and Arthur Argles, hope to take off for England today, began early today. Three hundred gallons of gasoline will be loaded aboard the famous plane. They expect to make the flight to England in 19 hours.

Nominating Speeches On Program Today

KANSAS CITY, June 14.—Today promises to be a busy day for the Republican National Convention with the platform issue to be settled and nominating speeches for Presidential candidates heard. There is some doubt that the first ballot will be taken today as originally planned. The programme follows:

10 A. M., Central Standard Time—Call to order by Senator Moses, of New Hampshire, permanent chairman.
Prayer by Rabbi Herman M. Cohen.

Presentation of platform by Resolutions Committee.

Formal selection of members of National Committee.

Nomination of candidates for President.

It appeared certain that at least five names would be presented to the convention—Herbert Hoover, Frank O. Lowden, Senator Watson, of Indiana; Senator Curtis, of Kansas; and Senator Goff, of West Virginia. Seconding speeches are in order also for each candidate.

FIELD CLUB STAGES A REAL COME-BACK

Caseys Threw A Scare Into Opposing Nine and Looked Like Winning the Game

FINAL SCORE — 5 TO 4

By T. M. Juno

The Caseys threw a great scare into the Field Club nine last night and for four and one half innings was in the front with a 4 to 1 scare but Field Club staged a real spurt in their fifth and scored three runs to even it up and then scored again in the sixth to win the game.

Up until the fifth the Caseys were holding wonderfully under McCarty. Jones was a little out of his usual form. Connors was the bright light of the Caseys' defense. In the third with two on, J. Fine hit a line drive far over Connors' head. Connor ran after the ball and by a leaping and sticking up of his gloved hand made a wonderful catch. His throw to McDevitt doubled Fine. In the same inning with two on again, W. Fine socked one to the right of him and while running at top speed he corralled the ball. J. Fine was again the victim of Connors' playing in the fifth. With one on, Fine socked one on the nose to deep, right center, labeled for three bases, but Connors with his back facing the fans again made another dazzling catch.

The Caseys jumped into the lead in their initial bat. Connors walked and stole second. Coyle went out, Jones to J. Fine, Connors advancing. E. McDevitt fled to left. Connors scored after the catch. D. Rodgers lifted to Beaton.

Field Club evened it up in their bat, Beaton was thrown out by McCarty. Dugan singled, Hibbs singled. Rodgers errored on J. Fine's hit filling the sacks. M. Cochrane struck out. W. Fine singled, scoring Dugan. DeDrick fled to D. McDevitt.

In the Caseys' second, D. McDevitt hit to Jones and went out. J. Rodgers fled to DeDrick. Sackville hit to Dugan and went out.

McCarthy retired the Caseys on strikes in the second. Jones, McGlynn and Beaton struck out.

Caseys took the lead in the third. David singled and was forced by McCarty. Connors got safe on a fielders' choice. Coyle walked, leading the bases. E. McDevitt singled to left, scoring McCarty and Connors. D. McDevitt whiffed.

Connors saved the Caseys in the third. Dugan was hit by a pitched ball. Hibbs walked. Fine ran for Dugan. J. Fine's liner was caught by Connors and W. Fine was doubled at second. M. Cochrane received a pass. Connors made a wonderful running catch of Fine's short fly.

Caseys scored again in the fourth. J. Rodgers singled. Sackville sacrificed. Jones to J. Fine. J. Rodgers went to third on a passed ball. B. David lined to McGlynn. J. Rodgers scoring after the catch was made. McCarty's fly was gathered by W. Fine.

The league leaders were again shut out in their fourth. DeDrick walked and was forced at second by Jones. McGlynn was passed. Beaton fled to Coyle. Dugan singled to left but Jones went out at the plate. D. Rodgers to D. McDevitt to B. David.

A zero went up for the Knights in the fifth. Connors hit to Jones and went out. Coyle doubled to left. E. McDevitt struck out. D. Rodgers' hit was stopped by Beaton.

Hibbs doubled to begin the Field Club's sixth. J. Fine fled to Connors. M. Cochrane singled, scoring Hibbs. W. Fine was passed. DeDrick hit to J. Rodgers, forcing W. Fine at second. M. Cochrane stopped at third. DeDrick went to second unmolested. Jones got a one base hit, scoring DeDrick and M. Cochrane. McGlynn fled.

JEWISH RESIDENTS HERE CONTRIBUTE TO AID THOSE IN EUROPE

Second Check Taken to State
Office in Philadelphia
Today

DONATE $1,937 IN ALL

Residents Here Have Pledged
To Contribute $5,000
In All

In answer to an emergency call from Albert H. Lieberman, chairman of the United Jewish Campaign for Eastern Pennsylvania, Joseph B. Singer, treasurer of the local campaign committee, today took a check in the amount of $420.00 to the state office in Philadelphia. Together with a previous check of $1517.00, the local committee has contributed $1937.00 towards the $5,000.00 which it has accepted as a quota towards the alleviation of suffering and distress on the part of millions of Jews throughout Europe, and to participate in the reconstruction program now being carried out on behalf of the Jews of Russia and the Ukraine. The quota of $5,000.00 is part of the national quota of $25,000,000.00 which the Jews of America have pledged to contribute in the course of three years for this purpose. Of this sum upwards of $11,000,000.00 has already been collected and allocated for the various humanitarian purposes.

The Jewish community of Bristol was the very first to answer the call which was sent out by Mr. Lieberman throughout Eastern Pennsylvania. The sum of $5,000.00 pledged by this community served to stimulate scores of other communities throughout the country, since the Jewish community of Bristol is one of the smallest in point of numbers, and its generosity had a most exemplary effect.

Louis Dries is chairman of the local committee. He set the example for the entire community by contributing $750.00 to be paid over a period of three years. Some of the other leading contributors include: Joseph B. Singer, Joseph Wagman, M. Spector and others.

Those who pledged for the three year drive and paid for the first year include: L. Dries, paid $250; Joseph B. Singer, paid $200; Joseph Wagman, paid $150; A. Popkin, paid $100; M. Cohen, pledged $150; M. Worob, paid $20; M. Spector, paid $50; I. Sirrot, paid $25; H. Popkin, paid $50; M. Hess, paid $10; L. Smith, paid $37.50; B. Breier, paid $20; F. Weissblatt, paid $25; M. Kivowitz, paid $5; M. Weissblatt, paid $40; L. Goldman, paid $10; S. Silber, paid $15; J. Lerman, paid $5; M. Grossman, paid $10; J. Schiffer, paid $15; J. Bernard, paid $40; A. Kolkin, paid $10; G. Corn, paid $10; L. Rubin, paid $50; M. Rubin, paid $25; N. Adler, paid $10; Lasoff Bros., paid $25; W. Glazer, paid $25; J. Steinberg, paid $33.50; W. Lupkin, paid $65; L. Lito, paid $5; J. Popkin, paid $5; M. Cohen, paid $25; H. Strauss, paid $5; B. Silber, paid $50; S. Katz, paid $5; Women's Aid Society, paid $25.

The amount of $420 transmitted to the state office includes payments for the second year's pledges from the following: Joseph B. Singer, paid $200; Joseph Wagman, paid $150; M. Spector, paid $10; J. Schiffer, paid $5; N. Adler, paid $10; Lasoff Bros., paid $25; L. Lito, paid $5; H. Strauss, paid $5; B. Silber, paid $5; F. Weissblatt, paid $5.

In a statement given out by Mr. Singer, he explained that the community is pleased to contribute its share towards the great relief program which the Jews of America are carrying out on behalf of their distressed coreligionists abroad. To Mr. Singer, who brought the check to Philadelphia, Mr. Lieberman, the State Chairman, expressed the hope that all the others who have not yet made payment on their second year will do so promptly, and send their checks to Mr. Singer, so that he might square their accounts with the state office.

STAND BY OLD GLORY

Appropriate Flag Day exercises will be held here tonight when there will be a practical demonstration of the love held for Old Glory. The Bristol Lodge of Elks will present to the Legion Cadets a handsome American flag and then will journey to Doylestown for a similar ceremony with the Boy Scouts of the county seat. No better way of observing Flag Day could be found and the Elks are to be congratulated upon the practical manner in which they put into effect some of the teachings which they preach.

Officially "the flag of the united states," reproducing literature a portion of the original resolution creating the flag, is 151 years of age today. It is a curious feature that whoever penned the resolution capitalized "flag" but not the name of the nation. The flag adopted by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777, was an evolution from previous devices employed to denote the unification of the Colonies in a common cause. Nor has the flag remained as created except as it involves colors, stripes and stars. It has undergone repeated alterations, though "13 stripes alternate red and white" is a fixture and the Union "white in a blue field" adds a star for every new state. While time has made necessary additions, in general appearance it is still the flag of the days of the Revolution.

The flag is the emblem of our national unity. It is not merely so much bunting, nor a variety of colors. Its stripes symbolize the beginnings of our history as a nation and its stars the growth in nearly a century and a half of existence. It is fitting, then, its natal day should be observed and that exercises commemorative of that for which it stands should instruct the youth of the land in its significance. It has had a history in which every American may delight. It is not the flag of conquest or aggression. It is the banner of a free people living under a government of law. It stands for justice and for equality of opportunity. It has been followed by armies seeking the relief of the oppressed. Its colors have inspired millions of men marching to repel the aggressions of the ruthless invader. It is our flag. Lessons in its meaning and mission will assist in keeping it unsullied.

But on this Flag Day Americans should do some deep thinking. It is not enough merely to display the emblem; that could be done perfunctorily in the morning and with no more thought of it until time came to take it down at night. Think of what it is the emblem and realize that the only difference between it and some other brightly colored piece of cloth is the force of sentiment that we put into it. When displaying it today think of the ideals it represents and of the thousands upon thousands of splendid young men who have given their lives or of their blood to uphold them. While these thoughts are thrilling Americans, there also should be recollection of how sight of the Stars and Stripes has thrilled other peoples to whom it has meant freedom and hope of a better age. Think of what the American Flag meant to those who had fears that civilization was going to ruin in the World War.

There would be fewer bones of contention if there were fewer bone-heads.

As prisoners in his secret room, he threatens Terry with torture unless Dolores agrees to Chinese accusations. She agrees in order to save Terry.

"You will return to your room," broke in Buckwell, "and come down when I send for you. I want you to act the part you are to play, as well as to speak it. Remember if you go back on your word that light comes out—I will have my finger on the switch from the moment you enter the room—and as soon as it goes out your young friend will be red from his own blood. Understand?"

"Yes, I understand." Her shudder of terror was almost a chill. "All right, men," ordered Buckwell. "Cover her eyes and take her back."

While Dolores was again being conducted through secret openings and passages up in the Chinaman's backstairs, Buckwell followed along to the hall entrance of the living room where his assembled enemies were impatiently waiting his arrival.

Opening the door, he felt the tenseness of the atmosphere, but

"I'm afraid, Lu Fong, that your hatred of me has at last carried you too far."

chose to ignore it. "I am sorry to have kept you waiting," he apologized, removing a hat that he had picked up from the hall table. "I was unexpectedly detained at a conference a few blocks away."

There was a long pause. Some of the men believed him. Others did not; but there was no doubt about their all marveling at his iron nerve.

Lu Fong advanced from the little group of Tong leaders and approached the man of questionable origin with intent determination. Before he could speak Buckwell gained an opening advantage by forcing his accusers to do the explaining.

"I have heard the ridiculous charges that our yellow friend here has made," he said to the rest of the men in the room, "and I shall be interested to learn on what he could possibly base his charge."

Buckwell's manner indicated a polite and justifiable resentment. He would not even condescend to address the Chinaman who had spread the bad news. As he finished speaking he looked around the room at the white bosses with a smile of tolerant amusement. They sighed with relief. They had many big deals pending with Buckwell and it would be disastrous to have him out of things until affairs had progressed a bit farther.

Buckwell finally looked Lu Fong in the eye with a deadly glare and said, "Well—"

All eyes turned upon the Tong leader. He did not waver. His moment had come. With a slight smile and air of absolute assurance he respectfully confronted the white bosses.

"My charges rest upon the word of a lady," he explained. "A lady of a most ancient and honorable name. She swore by the sacred memory of her Grandfather who died as a result of the doubtful one's persecution." Lu Fong paused and turned small, accusing eyes on Buckwell.

Every man in the room shifted his attention to Buckwell. They searched for some sign of the alien race, but could not be sure of detecting it. His powerful physique had been an invaluable asset for his successful masquerade.

Buckwell appeared to enjoy their scrutiny. He remained as calm and collected as before and again stole Lu Fong's thunder by asking, "I presume that you are speaking of the Senorita Dolores de Vasquez?"

Lu Fong nodded assent and his manifestation of surprise was a compliment to Buckwell's uncanny knowledge of the subject. The nod served to broaden the accused man's smile and with an air of triumph he turned to the onlookers.

"My dear friends—you see how foolish it is!" he exclaimed with an exaggerated show-off air. "The lady in question chances to be a guest in my home even now. I am sure she will not mind if I call her before you and disabuse your minds of any possible credence in what this malicious Chinik has said."

The white men nodded and smiled. They were relieved at Buckwell's evident ability to disprove the story which would eventually react to their disadvantage as well.

Utterly ignoring the Chinaman, Buckwell summoned a servant and requested him to ask the young lady in the room at the head of the stairs to come down.

Surprised at the bewildering turn the situation had taken, the Tong men became uneasy and a bit worried. Lu Fong was so thoroughly convinced of the truth of Dolores' story as she related it in his den the night before that he did not expect the same girl to appear. He thought that he had sensed her intense hatred of Buckwell and was at a loss to understand how she would consent to remain as a guest in his home. Lu Fong was sure there was some mistake.

With a desire to give his callers a vivid impression of Dolores as a delightful part of the household, Buckwell opened the hall doors just in time to let them see her descending the staircase.

Lu Fong's speechless surprise began turning into irate fury. He had been duped and that is something a Chinaman will not endure.

Dolores entered the room and stood beside Buckwell with an obedient effort to be casual. In reality she was tense and cold with fear. She wanted the ordeal to be over without delay so that Terry could enjoy freedom and relief from torture. Her proud, exquisite head was held high and her eyes never left Buckwell's figure. She did not trust him and watched carefully to see that he, also, kept his word.

Bowing courteously before Dolores, Buckwell stepped back and significantly rested his hand on an ornate statue base. She looked closely and saw a white electric push button cleverly worked into the design. Buckwell glanced at it meaningfully and Dolores understood the look.

Turning to the eagerly waiting group and then back to Dolores, he said in explanation: "It seems that there is a rumor that you have made grave accusations against me—I have asked you here to face the men to whom such a charge is of grave purport. I ask you now in their presence to truthfully affirm or deny those accusations."

He waited calmly for Dolores to speak.

The stillness in the room was intense. Each man scarcely breathed as each leaned forward in eager anticipation of what she would say. A minute passed. And another. Still Dolores did not speak. Lu Fong and the Tong men waited patiently with an air of confidence. Buckwell's hand played nervously around the push button.

Dolores watched the fingers in fascination. She knew that the slightest pressure of one of them on the button, even accidentally, meant death for the one she loved. But she also thought of her Grandfather, and dimly before her even she could see the great Vasquez sword with its motto, "A Vasquez Avenges a Vasquez." And she thought of her vow to avenge. But clearer than the vision and even stronger than her vow was her remembrance of the suffering on the face of the man she loved, who had risked his very life for—her. With a quick glance at the waiting audience she confronted Buckwell, but her gaze was riveted upon his hand, not his face, as she said obediently:

"I have made no accusations against you to anyone!"

CHAPTER XVIII

Hours of Peril

No greater smile of satisfaction ever suffused a man's face than spread over the well controlled features of Chris Buckwell when Dolores spoke the few words that turned Lu Fong's accusation into a lie.

"There you are!" exclaimed Buckwell triumphantly. "I am afraid, Lu Fong," he continued, "that your hatred of me has at last carried you too far."

The listeners knew that since Buckwell compelled Lu Fong to relinquish all property rights in Frisco the Chinaman was against him. But his plan for revenge had apparently been more daring than successful.

No "Standard Children" Says Government Leader

HERBERT HOOVER, who is the father of two boys and has served as the directing spirit in the feeding and sheltering of millions of children in war and famine, told the members of the American Child Health Association, in his presidential address a few days ago, just what he thought about "standardized children." He is "agin" any movement which might develop what he termed "standardized children." He said:

"Standards are wanted, but not standardized children. The ideal child is the optional child when all factors are balanced. These factors may be very different for different children. We want them different because the greater variety of good combinations, the richer will be the range of types, and the greater will be the contributions made to our national life. "Just as the modern science of floriculture aims to produce the widest possible variety of beautiful types, so the science of health development of children should aim to free them from the hampering impediments to anything that would enable each child to blossom in the infinite variety which is characteristic of life. "Our ideal is not only a child free from disease. It is also a child made free to develop to the utmost his capacity for physical, social and mental health."

ADVICE FOR BOYS

PORTLAND, Me.—There is a small boy in central Maine whose proudest possession is a personal letter which he received a short time ago from Herbert Hoover.

The letter shows that Mr. Hoover believes in play—and plenty of it particularly for boys.

In fact, play is the "domain of boys," according to the Secretary of Commerce. "My dear William," wrote the man who is credited with being one of the hardest working executives in the United States, "I was very glad to have your letter of January 17 in which you tell me something about the wonderful territory in central Maine where you live."

"The best way to economize in school is to utilize your time well."

"I am glad to hear that you have been making toys during your spare hours. It is very commendable for a boy of your age to be utilizing his time in that way. But don't forget that play is a real part of human life."

Hoover Praises Inventor Of New Washing Machine

WASHINGTON.—Although Herbert Hoover believes that happiness is found in work, he does not enjoy drudgery, and is inclined to express that dislike, particularly when it applies to women and their tasks.

He is especially interested in devices that make it easier for women in the home, and he recently took the pains to write a letter of commendation to a man who had invented a new type of washing machine.

The recipient of the congratulatory letter happened to hail from Iowa, the state where Mr. Hoover was born. The letter read:

"An invention which has relieved an uncomputable amount of drudgery from all womanhood is worthy of the finest mark of esteem that can be conferred, and I am proud to join in such expression."

In the Elimination-of-Waste campaign that has been carried on so extensively through the Department of Commerce, Mr. Hoover insisted that those problems be emphasized which would bring about a time-saving for the housewife, giving her more leisure and recreation.

EIGHT BUCKS COUNTY STUDENTS GRADUATE

STATE COLLEGE, June 14.—In the record breaking class of graduates from Penn State there were eight from Bucks county, some of whom have been among the most active members of the class during their four years.

Kilburn LeCompte, Langhorne, who was graduated in the curriculum of mechanical engineering, is a member of Pi Tau Sigma and Sigma Tau, both honorary engineering fraternities, and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, student branch.

Miss Gladys Mae Kates, Doylestown, who received a degree in home economics, is a member of Chi Omega, the girls' glee club, the choral club, the Girls' Senate, the Y. W. C. A. and the Louise Homer music club. She has been active in interclass sports competition.

Theodore R. Moyer, Chalfont, who was graduated from a course in mining geology, served on Student Council for two years. He is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho social fraternity.

Miss Virginia C. Pearce, Doylestown, who was graduated in the home economics curriculum, is a member of the Kappa Delta Rho social fraternity.

La Camaraderie, girls' fraternity.

William M. Barker, Langhorne, was awarded a degree in electrical engineering.

Julius B. Bund, Wrightstown, received his degree in architectural engineering, and first graduation honors.

Paul W. Hand, also of Wrightstown.

HE INSPIRED HOOVER

DR. WILLIAM H. WALKER of West Branch, Iowa, 85 years old, says he was the man who inspired Herbert Hoover to become a mining engineer. Dr. Walker's hobby was the collection of geological specimens, and Hoover as a youth thus became interested in minerals.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store.—(Adv.)

DURANT

BREAKS ALL RECORDS
FOR THE PAST FIVE YEARS

In May, Durant Plants shipped 18,125 cars, exceeding April by 15.4% and the best previous record since 1923 by over 29%.

This is no chance occurrence—it is a result of consistent gains begun last Fall, when the main plant at Elizabeth, New Jersey, broke all records for September, October and November.

March, April and May have exceeded the best previous three months' total for all time at the Elizabeth Plant by 57%.

At the close of business of each of these months there have been more unfilled orders on hand than ever before in the company's history. Even with this record-breaking May production the same condition holds true.

THIS BRILLIANT SUCCESS IS UNIVERSAL

In California*

One of the world's most critical buying markets, the Durant line was FIRST or tied for first place in 72 cities and towns in the month of April, SECOND or tied for second place in 47 cities and towns.

In New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Detroit*

Key cities of the industry, Durant showed a gain of 44.9% in registrations for the first three months of 1928 over the corresponding period of 1927.

*April state registrations are the latest available.

In All States*

Durant showed a gain of 19% for the first three months of 1928 over the corresponding period of 1927 in spite of the lost time due to getting new models into dealer's hands after January 1st.

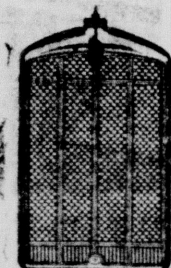

In Foreign Countries

April broke all previous export sales records, and shipments for the first four months of 1928 showed an increase of 30% over the same four months period of any other year.

Now, May 1928, has surpassed May 1927 by 300%.

There certainly must be a reason for this continued expression of universal public confidence and approval for Durant Products—Fours, Sixes and Trucks—$595 to $1550, f. o. b. Lansing, Mich.

There is an eager purchaser waiting for every Durant car. Have you driven one?

152-LB. ATHLETE THROWS HAMMER IN STYLE

By Davis J. Walsh
I. N. S. Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 14.—Far back in memory's dusty archives is a vague recollection that a ground keeper at the University of Pennsylvania was hit on the head by a 16-pound hammer and lived to resume his ground keeping on a large and eminently successful scale. That was more than twenty years ago but the same mental pigeon hole furnishes amplified data to the effect that the man who threw the hammer was Dan Luby and that he was something of a prize exhibit because he could achieve distances of 150 feet in spite of the fact that he was a comparatively meagre specimen of 150 pounds.

That foot-for-every pound thing caught the popular fancy of the day and, until the present, it always had been good for a recital any time you wanted to astound the gent who always knows everything about everything. But no more. You can't very well become choleric about a jobby who operated more than twenty years ago when you have one today who can beat him badly at his own game. The latter is Don Gwinn, of the University of Pennsylvania, 5 feet 7 inches in height, 152 pounds in weight and downright gifted in a seven-foot circle. Donald is by far the greatest athletic oddity we have had in the weight throwing events. He is consistently beyond 160 feet with the hammer regardless of his inadequate proportions and it would come as not even the faintest of surprises if he made the Olympic team in his specialty.

When and if he does, Gwinn will look like a modern Jack among giants at Amsterdam, for your weight man is a potential piano mover both in appearance and in muscular development. It even is conceivable that Gwinn will make many of the strong men look silly by getting a place in the first five, wherein the analogy between himself and Luby fades right out of the portrait. The Pennsylvania entry only did 150 feet on one of two unimportant occasions and never really amounted to anything in a national sense.

Gwinn has had to overcome his natural handicaps by the development of a somewhat unnatural style; that is, it may be quite natural from his own standpoint but it hardly adheres to the orthodox in any sense.

The hammer throw happens to be one of the most intricate of events, as far as the development of form is concerned. It requires that a man remain in the circle while leaping about in the throes of his swing and all too few have been able to master the science. The majority of competitors are content to make two turns and send the weight away. A few of the good ones, such as McGrath, Jack Merchant, Paddy Ryan and Tootell, were and have been able to negotiate three turns and remain in the circle. Naturally, they obtained superior distances.

Suppose, then that Gwinn had their brawn and his skill. The supposition is credible that a world's record would be the result. For Gwinn, needing greater acceleration in order to overcome his lack of heft, is said to make four turns in the circle and sometimes as many as five. A man who can do that could dance the polka on a polka dot.

Correct me, Arbuthnot, if I'm wrong, but it seems to me that, given the necessary additional inches and pounds, a man of such agility would be almost unbeatable.
